

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to compositions and methods for determining the replication capacity of a non-nucleoside reverse transcriptase inhibitor resistant virus. The compositions and methods are useful for identifying effective drug regimens for the treatment of viral 5 infections, and identifying and determining the biological effectiveness of potential therapeutic compounds.